DAMAGE SUIT VENUED HERE ASKS $15,000

UTILITY COMPANY, CONTRACTING FIRM ARE MADE DEFENDANTS

Stanley Copeland, by his next friend, Helen Copeland, has filed a $15,000 damage suit for personal injuries in the Putnam circuit court against the Public Service Company of Indiana, Inc., and L. E. Myers Contracting Company. The suit, which originated in Sullivan county, came to the local court on a change of venue from Clay county.

The suit alleges that on and before March 6, 1951, the defendant unlawfully and negligently overloaded and placed long utility poles along the west side of State Highway 63, and that said poles were within two or three feet of the blacktop pavement, creating a hazard to people traveling on said highway in motor vehicles.

On March 6, 1951, the plaintiff states that he was driving north on Road 63 in a Chevrolet auto at about 45 miles per hour. At a point, one mile north of the town of Fairbanks, he met another car and as the two vehicles were about even in passing, his car struck a hole in the blacktop causing it to veer to the left onto the shoulder of the road. The plaintiff says he regained control of the car and was about to get back on the pavement when the machine struck one of the utility poles.

The car turned over several times and Copeland was thrown out of the auto. He alleges that he suffered injuries, some of which will be permanent, and he asks damages of $15,000.

THINK

Frank Jessup, Indiana State Police superintendent, is attempting to make Indiana drivers conscious of road dangers, especially the younger drivers who wind up their cars when they get on the highway. As a result, he asked the cooperation of all and especially the parents, for suggestions. Mrs. William Killiom of Reelsville has made a suggestion to Mr. Jessup, by recommending this slogan: "Unless you relish the thought of a quick end, brother, when you drive, sit on one and THINK with the other." It was the second best suggestion he received, according to reports, and he got a lot of them.

DULLES SEES SPEED-UP IN NATO DEFENSE

SECRETARY OF STATE CONFIDENT OF 30 PER CENT INCREASE

WASHINGTON, April 29.—(INS) Secretary of State Dulles told Congress yesterday that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will increase the "combat effectiveness" of its troop almost one-third by next December.

At the same time, Mutual Security Director Stassen said the NATO Council has agreed upon a three-year $770,000,000 program for construction of essential air defense networks. He said that United States' share will be 42 percent of the total, or $327,250,000.

Dulles reported to the House Foreign Affairs Committee and Stassen to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on last week's NATO Council meeting in Paris.

Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) said that from Stassen's testimony he did not believe the Truman administration MSA budget figure of $760,000,000 could be cut by as much as $2,000,000,000. Senator Byrd (D-W.Va.) has urged a reduction of $2,900,000,000.

The foreign relations chairman said Stassen assured the committee that the European leaders with whom he talked had not "fallen" for the Kremlin peace line. Dulles said the NATO representatives agreed there has been no evidence to indicate the threat to the free world has diminished.

Emerging from a two-hour conference with the House committee, Dulles told newsmen: "I told the committee that I thought we had taken steps which would very largely increase the strength of the NATO organization perhaps by as much as 30 per cent in the present year."

Furthermore, Dulles said, he was convinced that this increase in NATO strength could be obtained in more economical ways than in the past to get "more for the American dollar."

He continued: "greater strength, greater economy and more prudence in expenditures is what we are seeking throughout the world."

Dulles said the administration's new foreign aid budget will be presented to Congress "by next Tuesday." He declined to give an estimate on the size of the program.

FORT SILL, Okla., April 29.—(UP)—Two of the nation's atomic cannon leave today on a 2,300-mile roundabout railroad trip for Frenchman Flat, Nev., where one will fire an atomic shell for the first time in history.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—(INS)—House probers said today the government dropped a huge mail fraud case in 1949 after lawyers for the defendant—whose indictment had been upheld by the Supreme Court—conferred with ex-Attorney General Tom Clark, now a Supreme Court justice.

Chairman Keating, R., N. Y., said: "So far as is known this is the only case on record where the government won its case in the Supreme Court and then walked into court and voluntarily threw away the fruits of victory."

SEOUL, Korea, April 29.—(UP)—South Korean raiders killed 17 North Koreans and possibly many more in a pitched battle during a driving rainstorm today at the eastern edge of the watersoaked battlefield.

The original adversaries of the 34-month-old war fought toe-to-toe for an hour and 20 minutes before the ROK raiders withdrew under cover of a heavy artillery barrage.

TOKYO, April 29.—(UP)—An American GI, whose frozen feet were cut off with a pen knife by his buddies to save his life, told today how Communist guards staged a "sitting duck" massacre of scores of Americans who surrendered in North Korea.

He said the GI's were cut down by guards who mounted the trucks in which they were captured and deliberately sprayed the disarmed and helpless men with machine gun fire. Many of the victims, he said, were American wounded.

Pvt. Tally Cox, of Altoona, Ala., one of 149 repatriated American prisoners, said he did not know how many Americans died in the slaughter.

He said the massacre was staged by the North Koreans near the Chosin reservoir on Dec. 7, 1950.

The Reds, he said, had captured a truck convoy of American soldiers during an Allied retreat.

He blamed the North Koreans for the massacre. He said he saw no similar cruelty all during his imprisonment.

REDS CONCEDE ONE POINT IN TRUCE PARLEY

GIVE GROUND FOR FIRST TIME IN ARMISTICE NEGOTIATIONS

PANMUNJOM, Korea, April 29.—(UP)—The Communists gave ground for the first time today in the resumed armistice negotiations. But the Communists and United Nations truce teams remained completely split on two vital points regarding repatriation of war prisoners.

"We made some progress," said senior U. N. truce delegate Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison. Tuesday he had threatened to break off negotiations unless the Reds stopped stalling.

Communist senior delegate Gen. Nam Il said at today's 64 minute meeting that his side would be willing to nominate an Asiatic nation to take custody of 46,918 North Korean and Chinese Communist prisoners who refuse to go back to Red-ruled territory.

This is believed to have removed one point at issue, for Nam is expected to name India and that country is believed acceptable to the U. N.

Nam said also he was willing to negotiate the length of time prisoners shall remain in neutral custody.

But then Nam said he would not name the Asiatic country until the U. N. agrees to send all anti-repatriate prisoners there.

The U. N. insisted they must be kept in Korea.

Harrison again rejected the Communist demand that the prisoners be taken to the custodian country. He pointed out to Nam Il that the Geneva Convention on prisoners forbids the use of force to repatriate them. The U. N., he said, is no more willing to force them to go to a neutral country than it is to force them to go home.

Students Riot At Princeton U.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 29.—(UP)—Nearly 1,000 Princeton University under-graduates called off a riotous "we want sex" parade early today when a university official threatened to expel them.

One student and a policeman were injured in the fracas which began during a mock air raid drill and coursed through the streets of Princeton for three hours. A threatened party race on a women's dormitory at night by Westminster Choir College failed to materialize when police headed off the shouting students.

Dean Francis B. Godolphin of Princeton threw a wet blanket on the frolic when he announced at 12:30 a. m. EDT that everyone not back in his room within two minutes would be liable to expulsion. The riot ended abruptly.

The students had flocked out of their dormitories when the lights went out in an unannounced civil defense air raid drill. They joined another group holding an outdoor student election rally and began shouting "we want sex" as they marched through the campus.

FISHIN' FUN

Tomorrow is the last day to fish for game fish and panfish until Thursday, May 16. Therefore I suppose it is reasonable to assume that every Local Hopeful that has an opportunity will have a line in the water. However, while we are assuming, we will also assume that the mushroom hunters will be out in full regalia to harvest the crop of toadstool toddlers. Just as a suggestion, if you haven't anything else to do, just get out in the country and walk around. It's mighty nice at this time of the year.

Austrian Held For Mail Fraud

INDIANAPOLIS, April 29.—(UP)—An Austrian immigrant who authorities say has admitted about $6,000 worth of mail order frauds, was held here today following arraignment in federal court.

Peter Wroda, 41, was arrested by Postal Inspector W. W. McBroon on a tip by officials of the Rose Nockware Co., Philadelphia, Penn. The firm became suspicious when handwriting on an order for neckties matched that of a man who disappeared with $640 in ties last July.

Authorities described Wroda as a "hit and run operator" who would answer "salesman wanted" advertisements, order large lots of goods on consignment and then pocket all the proceeds.

E. A. Barnhart, Detroit postal inspector, said Wroda also was wanted in Michigan on a charge of using the mails to defraud. Authorities said Wroda was sentenced on a similar charge in Ohio in 1939, and in 1947 received a two-year sentence in Chicago for accepting money for goods he failed to deliver.

Salary Boosts Are Approved

INDIANAPOLIS, April 29.—(UP)—Allotments totaling $547,987, including pay increases of $25 to $60 monthly for state board of accounts examiners, were approved late Tuesday by the state budget committee.

biggest pay hikes would go to newer members in order to attract capable men for the 20 new posts to be filled this summer.

Under the new pay scale, starting salaries will be upped from $315 a month to $375. Maximum pay for examiners with 10 years' service will go from $500 to $525. The department now has 90 examiners.

Rep. Laurence D. Baker (R. Kendallville) said other allotments approved by the committee he heads were $252,000 for equipment for the Dr. Norman Beatty hospital, Westville; $199,000 for new national guard armories at Danville, Bluffton, La Porte and Huntington; and $40,000 for expansion of the water system at the village for epileptics at New Castle.

Wilbur Cranley, 37, was given a court appearance today by city police at 10:15 p. m. Tuesday, charged with reckless driving on East Washington street.

GOING TOO FAR

FAIRMOUNT, W. Va. (UP)—A prisoner awaiting trial had livened up his days by answering numerous magazine ads, ranging from applications for loans to no-money-down inspections of watches. Authorities were lenient at first but finally had to stop when he wrote to take advantage of an offer for a 10-day free trial of a pistol.

You will have to put up a bond

When this time comes for you—

Yes, the day may come when you will have to put up a bond.

We, of course, don't mean a jail bond. But there are dozens of other kinds of bonds anybody may sometime need.

You may need a bond when you are appointed administrator of an estate, or an executor or a guardian. Or a bond to guarantee court costs if you sue somebody, a "replevin" (repossession) bond to protect the sheriff if he retakes something you've sold, or an attachment bond if you want him to seize property. Or you may have to give a contract bond, if you are going to put up a building for somebody.

Just keep us in mind for the day when you may possibly need a bond.

Home Hot Water
Hints Vanuable

Here's the weather prediction for most of Indiana this evening: Hot showers, followed by rising spirits. This, of course, is inside the home where dad will enjoy a good shower after a long day at the office, and daughter will freshen up for the evening's date. Both will have plenty of good, hot water, if an automatic electric water heater is on the job.

And it's easier than ever to have an automatic electric water heater in the home, thanks to the new, money-saving installation plan offered by the Public Service Company. According to this plan, the Public Service Company pays any installation charge above $25, if the installation is in a single-family residence where plumbing is already installed, and arrangements are made in advance. Arrangements can be made either with the Public Service Company or the appliance dealer selling the water heater.

In addition to this low-cost installation plan, Hoosier appliance dealers are now offering attractively low down payments and convenient, long-term payment plans.

Besides being the safest type of water heater ever devised—with no flame and no dangerous fumes—an automatic electric water heater is completely clean, inside and out. There's nothing to create dirt or soot, and there's no need for a flue or any "special" installation job. Only a minimum of wiring and piping is needed, and the electric water heater can safely be placed anywhere in the home. This is especially convenient for those living in homes without a

FARM NEWS

REVIEW AND FORECAST

CONTROL SPITTLEBUGS INCREASE HAY YIELDS

One of the easiest, most inexpensive ways to get more legume hay per acre this year will be to spray for control of spittlebugs, advises G. E. Lecker, Purdue extension entomologist. He says treated Indiana fields in past seasons showed increased yields ranging from 25 to 55 per cent.

Hoosier farmers reported excellent results from spraying last spring. One operator harvested 80 bales of hay per acre compared with 55 bales per acre from an untreated area. His extra 25 bales were obtained at a cost of $1.40 for spray materials.

The spittlebug is not a new insect. It has been with farmers for a good many years, but only in the last ten has it begun to multiply rapidly and become a major pest of clover and alfalfa.

Spittlebugs cause a stunting of the plants which lowers the quantity and quality of pastures and hay crops. Infestations are characterized by masses of foamlime spittle within which the young insects live. It's not common to find fields so heavily infested that plants are always wet with spittle, even during the hottest part of the day.

Spittlebugs are among the first insects to appear in the spring. They overwinter in the egg stage and the young nymphs show up and begin to make spittle on plants a few days after April or early May.

The secret of control, says Lecker, is early application of sprays or dusts. One or two spittlebug masses per plant on or between expanding leaves is enough to justify prompt action. This means, of course, that fields should be examined frequently during April to determine the degree of infestation. Greatest benefits have been obtained from sprays applied during the latter part of April and the first week in May.

The insecticide most widely used is BHC, although methoxychlor and toxaphene are also recommended, the Purdue specialist says. These materials are all available in the emulsion (liquid) form. They can be used in the ordinary weed type sprayer that comes equipped with five or ten gallon per nozzle. Both are satisfactory for spittlebug control.

BHC is usually sold as an 11 percent emulsion containing one pound of chemical per gallon. It is used at the rate of two pints per acre with enough water to obtain even distribution. Residues will disappear before the crop is cut for hay, but if dairy cattle are being pastured in the field, BHC may show up in the milk. Same is true for toxaphene. Where stock are on pasture it is best to use methoxychlor at two quarts per acre since it does not contaminate milk and cattle can be pastured continuously in the sprayed field.

Details of spittlebug control are given in Purdue Mimeo E-28, available from any county agricultural agent.

Indiana farmers are reminded that in their hog operation they can guard against anemia by putting iodine in with pigs. An alternate method of protection is to spray the sow's udder with ferrous sulfate, says Purdue University animal husbandmen. They add that if ferrous sulfate is used, six one pound of crystals in about one gallon of warm water.

It's very possible that a good many Hoosier farmers will find some exceptionally large and long sweet clover roots in their fields, according to H. R. Lathrop, Purdue University extension agronomist. He found roots of the new Evergreen variety, dug up from soil on a southwestern Indiana farm, that measured four feet long and three-fourths inch in diameter. Largely because of its root system, the specialist recalls, sweet clover has long been noted as "queen of soil builders."

Don't turn the dairy herd on pasture, emphasize Purdue University dairy specialists, until a careful check has been made to see that all empty pails cans have been destroyed. After winter confinement, dairy cows may have an inclination to lick metal containers. A very little paint may prove fatal.

Perhaps the lawn was not fertilized early this spring. Do the job now, say Purdue University horticulturists.

Now is a good time to plan the pasture program for 1953. Milk production per acre varies greatly depending on the kind of pasture used, the amount of fertilizer applied and management practices employed, claim Purdue University dairymen. In the coming months every milking cow in the herd should graze at least one acre of legume-grass pasture.

Kill those lawn ants with chlordane, one of the newer synthetic insecticides related to DDT, advises G. E. Lecker, Purdue University entomologist.

Chlordane knocks out ants within a few minutes, says the specialist. It also provides residual protection lasting all summer.

The material can be purchased as a 40 per cent wettable powder or as a 10 per cent dust, both of which are satisfactory for ant control.

Application of chlordane is extremely easy. For mound building ants, the lawnmower should scatter a small amount of the 40 per cent powder or a little more of the 10 per cent dust over the mound, washing it in with water from the garden hose.

A little chlordane goes a long way, says Lecker. One-half pound of the powder or two and one-half pounds of the dust will treat 1,000 square feet of lawn. There is no danger of hurting the grass, even with dosages far greater than those necessary to control insects.

LOOKING... AT LIFE

BY ERIC BRANDEIS

Ah, Spring! Ah, Pansies and Violets! Ah, Love! Ah, Minks! Ah, Diamonds!

At this season of the year not only a YOUNG man's fancy but almost everyone's under 50 runs to thoughts of love, particularly if marriage has not yet entered life, or if another one is in order.

So what could be more interesting than to report that Jolie Gabor, the mother of Eva, Zsa Zsa and Magda, is going to be married again?

And twice as interesting—and educational to all those who contemplate marriage—are her thoughts about love, as she unfolded them to a newspaper reporter who rushed to her home to receive the glad tidings.

One of the most important preliminaries to marriage is to decide what kind of a husband your chosen one should be.

Jolie has the answer, in describing her own fiancé.

"He looks like a diplomat, has the soul of a poet, and the mind of an American business man," she said. And, may I add, that these three qualifications are given in the order of their relative importance. Many a girl might well waive the first two and put up with only the third one.

Does Jolie who, after all, confesses to 53 summers, and an equal number of springs, autumns and winters, marry for companionship?

"Companionship?" screamed Jolie, according to the reporter. "These are three beguiling words of my life! I adore them."

Love is the ONLY thing that counts in life, she said. "These everybody knows. Who wants anything else?"

The reporter apparently did not contradict her. The moment was too solemn.

Jolie Gabor could not reveal the name of her intended. I shall know why. But in a love so big, so magnificent, so all-embracing, what matters a name? Isn't a rose by any other name as sweet?

Mama Gabor thinks that a middle-aged marriage is a very fine thing—but ONLY to a man of approximately the same age.

The one thing that spoils her happiness just a wee bit is that at the moment both Eva and Magda are bachelors.

"It is difficult to find husbands for them," Jolie explained. "They are not little Cinderellas. Always they have had the best minks and the best diamonds. And quickly she added, 'But that these things are important.'"

I am giving you all these details since it will soon be June. Thus, if you want your daughter to be a June bride, or if any young ladies wonder why they have missed the boat, perhaps Jolie's advice may be of some use to you.

Are you wearing the BEST minks? And how about your diamonds? Are they the right shape, the right size, the proper quality? All these things count, you know. But apparently they are not everything.

I am going to the wedding of two dear young people.

He is a clerk in a grocery store. She is a telephone operator.

Neither of them has a dime. The diamond in the engagement ring he gave her is so small you can hardly see it. And he bought it on the installment plan at that.

But you ought to see their eyes! The happiness that shines in them emits a more wonderful sparkle than the "best diamonds" a millionaire's wife could advertise to the world!

Safety Play Is Not Safe With Too Many Losers

A lady correspondent asks me write about safety plays. She says the entire subject confuses her. Below is a part of my letter.

"Playing a four spade contract, my trump holding was K 10 8 3. I dummy's spades were A 9 5 4. Being the safety play for this continuation as recommended by my club expert, I led the deuce and played dummy's nine. It lost in the jack and later I found out my opponent had jack doubleton and the other had queen doubleton. What kind of "safety" is this? If I had led my ace and king I would have lost no tricks in the suit."

Even the undertone of bitterness in this letter, I infer that the contract was down one—which prompts the quick statement that in many hands you cannot afford a safety play. In this instance for example, if the lady had three sure losers in the plain suits, then, by all odds, her very best play in the trump suit was to lay down the ace and king and hope for the best.

In the deal shown in the box today, Mr. Meek got into a four spade contract and won the opening of the jack of diamonds with dummy's king. He saw that he had one sure loser in hearts and one in clubs. Obviously, then, he could afford to lose one trick in spades—but not two.

If Mrs. Keen held the queen and either one or two other spades, the finesse of the jack would bring in the suit without loss. But Mr. Meek properly gave up the chance of making five-odd to insure the making of four.

He used a safety play to guard against the holding of four trumps by either opponent. His first trump play was the king. He then returned to his hand with a diamond and led a small spade toward the jack. If Mrs. Keen had held Q 10 7 of trumps at this point, there is nothing she could have done to prevent dummy's jack from winning a trick.

As the cards actually were divided, Mrs. Keen showed out on the second trump lead and dummy's jack was put up. Mr. Abel won with the queen but later Mr. Meek was able to lead a trump from the board through the 10-seven up to his own ace-king.

Mrs. Eva McNary returned to her home Saturday after visiting for the last three months with a cousin in Terre Haute. The sixth graders were very unhappy when they learned their teacher, Sherrill Alexander celebrated his birthday in August, until the girls thought of having an early birthday party. While he was gone they brought out birthday napkins and plates for each desk, three beautifully decorated cakes and other refreshments of cake, popcorn were on his desk. When he reentered the room, he was greeted by the class singing "Happy Birthday." Each member of the class had contributed to help purchase a nice white shirt. LIGHTNING PROTECTION

IS A NECESSITY FOR CERTAIN CLASSES AND TYPES OF PROPERTY. IT IS A GOOD THING TO PROVIDE FOR ALL BUILDINGS. Lightning is no respecter of persons or property. It is most consistently damaging of all of Nature's elements, still it is the ONE DESTRUCTIVE FORCE THAT CAN BE CONTROLLED AND RENDERED HARMLESS.

The application to any building of a "NATIONAL" approved and guaranteed LIGHTNING PROTECTION SYSTEM insures for that building the structure COMPLETE immunity from the lightning hazard.

LIGHTNING IS A "HEAVY HITTER" AND ITS "BATTING AVERAGE" IS HIGH. Lightning Kills—It Injures—It Destroys. Many people are killed each year by lightning; many more are crippled, injured, or shocked with disastrous effects. The average annual lightning loss is in excess of $22,000,000.00 and every dollar of this loss represents preventable waste.
